Splash Pad under construction at Tiger Town Park in Elba

by Linda Hodge, Editor

Construction of the new Splash Pad at the Tiger Town Park complex in downtown Elba began late last week.

A splash pad is a recreation area, often in a public park, for water play that has little or no standing water. This is said to eliminate the need for lifeguards or other supervision, as there is little risk of drowning as the water sprays from spouts, etc. and in essence creating a playground with water props.

Elba's splash pad was approved for construction in December by the Elba City Council at an estimated cost of $187,285, and upon completion it will include 2,600 feet of a water playground and a 5-ft wide concrete pad encircling the area. The splash pad is being constructed in front of the old Elba High School entrance façade (to the left of the façade facing it).

Elba Parks and Recreation director Greg Hanchey was extremely happy with the construction progress Friday afternoon, March 9, as the work crew excavated dirt. He said the crew working on the splash pad would probably be done with the actual construction within 7-10 days.

"It is scheduled now for the concrete to be poured on Thursday of next week

The new Splash Pad construction in Elba at Tiger Town Park is taking shape this week. Work on the Splash Pad began late last week, and on Friday, Elba Parks and Recreation director Greg Hanchey said the construction crew was on schedule to pour the concrete on Thursday of this week if all went well. The above photo shows the progress of the project as of early Tuesday afternoon with the water pipes being installed.

Coffee County Commission honors Sheriff Dave Sutton at meeting

by Linda Hodge, Editor

The Coffee County Commission extended a special recognition to Sheriff Dave Sutton during the Monday, March 12, commission meeting.

Sutton is serving this year as the president of the Alabama Sheriff's Association, and Coffee County Commissioners elected to honor him for this and his many other accomplishments by presented a resolution of achievement to the sheriff during Monday's meeting.

As commission chairman Dean Smith read the resolution, he noted that Sutton had distinguished himself amongst his colleagues, and the county commission wanted to recognize him by extending congratulations to him for being elected president of the Alabama Sheriff's Association.

Sutton thanked the commission for the recognition, but noted it was not something he could have

"This is one of the highest positions to be bestowed by your peers," Sutton said. "I couldn't have done it without Coffee County being here with me.

I couldn't have done it without the people of Coffee County, and I thank them for that."

County administrator Rod Morgan noted during Monday's meeting that Sheriff Sutton and Captain Michael Hines had been working with the Coffee County Board of Education in trying to secure a third School Resource Officer (SRO) for that school system.

Morgan said this SRO would be a full-time deputy assigned to the school system during its school year, and he/she would work

Glenn Koster Sr., of Hutchinson, Kansas, is on a journey across the U.S. trying to bring awareness for the need of more foster parents and adoption. He began his journey Feb. 1st from the Atlantic Ocean in Miami Beach, and he arrived in Elba on Friday afternoon, March 9th. Koster said he hopes to complete his trek across the nation on Oct. 5th at the Pacific Ocean in La Push, Washington.

Kansas man currently walking across U.S. comes through Elba

by Linda Hodge, Editor

Glenn Koster Sr. of Hutchinson, Kansas started a journey Feb. 1st that he hopes to complete on Oct. 5th of this year, and that journey brought him to Elba last Friday afternoon, March 9th.

Koster is doing a Charity Steps walk in an effort to raise awareness of the need for foster parents and adoption. An adoptee himself, he said statistics show that in his home state of Kansas, there are 5,000 children that are in foster care with 900 of those awaiting adoption.

"Kansas is among those states with the least number of children in care," he said.

In 2011, Koster said he weighed in at a hefty 257 pounds when he decided to make a change and shed those excess pounds. By the end of that year, he had shed nearly 60 pounds.

"I followed that endeavor with a commitment to get in shape in 2012, which resulted in my participation in a Get Fit Challenge with-in Eaton," he said. "I managed to walk an amazing 280 miles in June alone, adding another 225 miles in July. I've kept on walking since then."

Koster's current walk is his second 'cause' walk, but he said this one is his longest journey by far.

For his 60th birthday in 2015, he decided to Walk Across Kansas. The focus of this journey was to raise funds for four central charities - Reins of Hope, Big Brothers / Big Sisters, First Call for Help, and Heart-to-Heart.

"I completed that trek in October 2015 despite being stopped by medical issues three times along the way,"

BRAINSTORMS

With Ferrin Cox

"A great many people think they are thinking when they are really rearranging their prejudices." — William James

A recent article on gun ownership in America has some numbers that are so conflicting that it could be comical. It starts off with a paragraph citing a 2015 report that "Americans own guns at a staggering rate of 88.8 per 100 people". Right below that startling revelation was a breakdown of gun ownership by states with the very highest number (double the next highest state) was 195.7 per 1,000 people. Now both sections quote what should be a reliable source for the numbers but which one should we believe (if it really matters). Oh, Alabama was number 7 on the "most firearms" list with 20 per 1,000. Then the next portion of the article is a graph that shows gun ownership by state and in that portion of the story Alabama has a 48.9% gun ownership! A number of others are even higher but equally as conflicting. There is absolutely no way a reasonable person can form any opinion on gun ownership, gun violence, etc., from the above confusion. However obsessed (pro or con) citizens can cherry pick the information, quote the source, and start a social media argument that can be guaranteed to raise blood pressure on one side or the other of the gun issue for weeks or months. Our personal reaction was to read and reread the data and try to figure out why such widely conflicting numbers to argue "guns" are being quoted in the beginning. We failed to figure out an answer to that question. After rereading all those numbers, our conclusion is that the report that allots less than a hundred guns per 1,000 is a federal report based on REGISTERED owners. A whole bunch of folks are not registered owners and that is perfectly legal until they start strolling down the street with a weapon.

We are opposed to arming teachers in the classrooms (or churches). There is more than one argument against such action. In the past year there have been reports of a child accidentally discharging a pistol in a deputy's holster, a gun discharging in a classroom when accidentally dropped, and a teacher going off the deep end mentally in a classroom while banishing a pistol. Any of these can happen in any classroom where a gun is present. Now the real scary part(s) . . . a teacher must be on guard 60 minutes of every hour to be sure no students (or parent) gets the weapon, i.e. the female teacher holding her purse with both hands (unless she straps it on her inner thigh like in a gangster movie). Then picture another "active shooter" event where these armed teachers are stalking the shooter. Law enforcement enters the building and is also stalking the unknown shooter. Someone turns a corner in the hallway and sees another person with a gun in hand and immediately assumes this is the "active shooter" when actually it is another citizen (or law officer) with good intentions. Then in the confusion, you have two (or more) loyal citizens shooting at each other and whatever the outcome, it will not be good.

Turn your scars into stars like St. Patrick

by R.A. Mathews

He said, "A crusty old leprechaun who drank green beer."

That's how my friend Jack answered me last week. I had asked, "Who is St. Patrick?" Another said, "Irish dude." The rest threw their hands in the air.

Google "St. Patrick" and the mystery deepens—no two accounts are alike. Seriously. Virtually the only reliable information about the man and his Ireland is in Patrick's two writings. He was born and reared a wealthy nobleman of Britain. In roughly 410 A.D., when he was 15, Patrick sailed the Irish Sea—as a slave.

Britain belonged to Rome at that time, but Roman legions had withdrawn to fight barbarian invaders. That left Britain defenseless. Patrick writes that he was one of thousands captured by Irish raiders while at his parents' country home. Apparently, he was then sold to an Irish warlord.

Patrick's father was a deacon and his grandfather a minister, but Patrick writes that he didn't believe in God until he was "humbled by [daily] nakedness and hunger." He recounts praying hundreds of times a day during his six years of slavery, and says "God protected me and comforted me as a father does a son."

Because of that intimate relationship, when Patrick hears a voice in his sleep saying a certain ship will take him home, he's off.

Patrick safely travels 200 miles to the designated port, and the ship is there, about to leave!

But the captain refuses to take him.

Patrick then does what he knows best, he prays. Before the day is out, the captain sends word for him to return, and Patrick sails with them. Once they reach land, the crew almost starves. The captain yells, "O, Christian," asking Patrick to pray to his God.

Patrick tells them, "Turn...with all your heart to the Lord my God, to whom nothing is impossible..."

They agree and Patrick prays. He writes that when a herd of swine appears, the sailors capture and eat them, giving "hearty thanks to God."

It's God who will lead Patrick back to Ireland. The country is pagan, worshipping idols and maybe even offering human sacrifices. It's rumored the Irish still posted skulls on stakes and wore them on their belts. That's perhaps what Patrick means when he writes of Irish "abominations."

Missionary work in Ireland was like present-day Christian missionaries with radical Muslims. Patrick writes of Coroticus, apparently a warlord, who would slaughter Christians following their baptism and sell Christian women as sex slaves.

Determined, Patrick appoints ministers, saying that "everywhere there should be clergy to baptize and exhort..." He thereby effectively becomes the first bishop of Ireland.

This humble man, who repeatedly referred to himself as "illiterate" and "a sinner," writes a clear understanding of Christianity. Legend has it that Patrick used a shamrock, showing how one flower with three leaves explains the trinity: God the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit.

Even so, converting the pagan Irish took more than desire. The missionary Palladius went to Ireland, ahead of Patrick, but Palladius wasn't successful—probably because he couldn't speak the language or understand the warlord system. Patrick knew both from his early painful time in Ireland.

Remember St. Patrick, not as a crusty old leprechaun, but for the six years of slavery, nakedness, and hunger that led to a great victory of faith. Patrick is credited with bringing Ireland to Christ. He embodies Robert Schuller's famous words, "Turn your scars into stars."

This weekend, amid the corned beef and parades, examine the worst moments of your life. Perhaps, like St. Patrick's, they could become stars for God.

Heart attack led Coffee County resident to writing

by Linda Hodge, Editor

Greg Powell, a resident of the Basin Community in Coffee County, says he always had a passion for writing, but it was not until he suffered a heart attack at the age of 57 that he chose to devote his life to writing.

Now, he is the author of the published work, "Murder in L.A. [Lower Alabama]" and already is working on its sequel.

"I've always been really good at creative writing," Powell said. "Even in school, my teacher encouraged me to go into creative writing, but I thought special education would be better for me."

A resident of Coffee County for 30 years, Powell pursued a degree in special education after high school from Huntingdon College, and later, he returned to the local area, where his family owned property, to attend MacArthur Technical School in Opp. He attained his LPN nursing degree while at MacArthur.

Powell said he had worked several years in the food industry and only two as an LPN when he suffered a heart attack at the age of 57, which required him to receive two stints. After that, he was not able to continue working the long stressful hours required to be an LPN.

Book author Greg Powell is shown here with his first published work, "Murder in L.A. [Lower Alabama]". Powell, a Coffee County resident, will have a book signing Monday, March 26, at the Enterprise Library from 10 a.m. until 12 noon.

It was at this juncture in his life that Powell said he returned to his lifelong passion of writing, and he penned his first fiction work, "Murder in Lower Alabama". He received a copyright for the book in 2017, and it was later published by RoseDog Books of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Powell said the book has received a 5-Star rating success at rosedogbookstore.com. It is available for purchase on that website, as well as, Barnes and Noble and Amazon.com.

"Please grab my book," Powell said. "You will not be disappointed."

The sequel to "Murder in Lower Alabama" will be "Corruption in L.A. [Lower Alabama]".

The book is described to "show the good in people as well as their judgmental and unforgiving nature. There is a lesson to be learned from this book and to each reader it will be different. It is the opinion of the author that all people have the potential to do bad, but it is the common good that will overcome evil. The author in this book will take you on a journey through many different types of people."

Greg Powell's son, Richard, is a graduate of Kinston School.

Powell will be at the Enterprise Public Library on Monday, March 26, from 10 a.m. until 12 noon for a book signing opportunity. Citizens are invited to come see him at the library that day!

A Brush With "Broadway Joe"
At one time or another something extraordinary happens to all of us.
We meet somebody famous, accomplish something no one else has ever done, or encounter something we can't explain. Unfortunately, many times we don't realize how extraordinary it is until it is over. This happened to me once, and after it was all over, I had no way to prove it ever occurred.
Jim Meggs and I had the same birthday. We always thought that was pretty cool, so we called ourselves "birthday brothers". Jim was a great friend; he "went for Alabama," and he taught me my first curse word in 3rd grade. I think we even had a joint birthday party at Jim's house one year. It wasn't that great because all the guests just brought two of the same present. The lack of variety in gifts can kill a party, especially for seven year olds.
Every year we would do something special around our birthday. My mom would take us to McDonald's, or we might go riding on his sisters' horses. One year I got to go home from school with Jim on Friday and spend the night. The year we turned eight, Jim's dad checked us out of school and took us to Tuscaloosa to watch "the Crimson Tide" practice football.
To say the least, Jim and I were excited. We were going to see our football heroes on the practice field as they prepared themselves to be superhuman on Saturdays. It was all we could do to contain ourselves as we drove down the interstate to Tuscaloosa.
We got there and walked out onto the practice field in amazement. They were all there. All the names we heard on the radio each week were standing there in person. Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant was in his tower watching over the field, almost larger than life. It was a great birthday present for a southern boy of any age.
As we watched the team practice, I noticed someone at one end of the field working with all the quarterbacks. He wasn't wearing the same shirt that all the coaches were wearing, but I could tell he was important by the way people were listening to him. Just then, I heard Jim's dad say "that's Broadway Joe, boys." Suddenly I realized that it was Joe Namath. I couldn't believe it! Joe Namath, the most famous quarterback to ever play the game, was right there in front of me.
I continued to watch him as he walked over and talked to Coach Bryant. My daze was broken when Jim asked if I wanted to play some catch. I turned and began throwing the football with Jim. We threw passes to each other as practice began to wind down. As I ran a post pattern I saw someone leaving the field in our direction. Jim over threw me and the ball rolled right over to the person I had seen leaving the field.
We both froze in our tracks as "Broadway Joe" reached down and picked up our ball. I managed to somehow move my arms, that suddenly felt like cement, and catch the twenty yard wrist pass that he flipped back to me with a smile. I turned and looked at Jim to make sure he had seen what had happened. He was already trying to get a pen and paper from his dad for an autograph.
Quickly I turned back toward Mr. Namath to ask for his autograph, but he was gone; he had already disappeared into the tunnel that led to the locker room. Spectators weren't allowed in the locker room so, my brush with "Broadway Joe" was over as quickly as it started.
As we walked back to the car, the magnitude of what had happened hit me. I had caught a pass from Joe Namath. Not everybody could say that. Jim couldn't say that, in fact Jim didn't even see me catch it. I had absolutely no proof that it had ever happened. My friend didn't see it, I didn't get an autograph, and Joe Namath had probably forgotten about it as soon as he got out of sight. I, however, knew it had happened and I would never forget it. I couldn't wait to get home and tell my dad. I've always wished I could meet "Broadway Joe" and ask him if he remembers throwing a pass to a little kid in Tuscaloosa about 25 or 30 years ago. He probably wouldn't remember it but, I always will. The same sort of thing happened to Jesus as they walked and talked with Him but, "then their eyes were opened and they recognized him, and He disappeared from their sight" (Luke 24:31). They were so excited they couldn't wait to tell their friends, so they turned around and walked all the way back to Jerusalem.
Sooner or later something extraordinary happens to all of us. I caught a pass from Joe Namath, but that pales in comparison to meeting Jesus and giving Him my life.

[March 15],” Hanchey said Friday afternoon. “After that, they will construct the props a day or two later.”

Once the props for the splash pad play area are in place, Hanchey said there is a one-month wait time and then the tuff coat paint would be applied to the splash pad.

Hanchey also said a fence much like the one around the Tiger Town playground area is expected to be constructed also around the splash pad to create a safety barrier between the children and the nearby roadway. And, he hopes for a pavilion to eventually be constructed next to the splash pad for families to enjoy as well.

Based on his research in preparing for this new splash pad, Hanchey said there are not many splash pads within a 75-mile radius that would compare to this new one being constructed in Elba, and he is super excited for the fun it is sure to bring to Elba.

The splash pad remains on target to open in May,

WALK

Koster said.

Koster said he has chosen a difficult route for his current walk to cross the United States because the lives that foster children and adoptees live are among the most difficult lives one can imagine. Also, he said the route would take him through Kansas, which he has called home since 1999.

“My wife is traveling along with me in an RV for support to facilitate rest stops along the way,” Koster said.

His current journey began Feb. 1st from the Atlantic Ocean in Miami Beach, Fla. Upon arriving in Elba last Friday afternoon around 4:30 p.m., Koster said he surpassed the 700 miles mark of his journey that day.

The complete walk will be 4,147 miles, which he said he hopes to finish Oct. 5th at the Pacific Ocean in La Push, Washington. States he will have walked through at the conclusion of the journey are: Florida, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana, Idaho, and Washington.

Koster is tracking his walk through his Facebook blog. Updates can be followed at Facebook.com/ksCharitySteps and Facebook.com/glenn.koster

Subway experience is also delivered online at www.Subway.com and through the Subway App, available in select markets at the Apple App Store and Google Play.

Most recently, Subway® introduced its Signature Wraps, adding three crave worthy, protein packed wraps featuring double the meat of a 6-inch sub, plus a unique combination of veggies, toppings and sauces. Later this month, Subway® launches its guest loyalty program, MyWay Rewards, in North America, the brand's guest loyalty program

“When I learned of the band's once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to perform in Chicago, I had to get Subway® involved locally,” said former Marching Tiger Joe Russell, local Development Agent representing 200 Subway® shops. “I have a special fondness for the Marching Tiger Band. I participated in Elba's school music program while a student and was a band member from 5th to 11th grade. Many of the best moments from my school years took place during band events.”

“I know how hard these kids work, year-round, balancing academics with their passion for music,” Russell continued. “Band is so much more than putting on a weekly half-time show. Participating in band introduces students to many tools they need for future success including teamwork, accountability, innovation, commitment and integrity. Most importantly, it teaches kids the importance of giving back to the community which is a foundation of leadership.”

“I encourage all of my Subway franchisees to be business leaders and give back to their local communities,” Russell said. “I'm thrilled Marty answered my call and rose to the challenge to help the band when the need presented itself. Marty, his sister and shop manager, Kathy, and the rest of the Team Subway crew in Elba made all of this possible.”

What began as a friendly Facebook conversation between Russell and Amy Giles, former Marching Tiger and current administrative assistant to the mayor of the City of Elba, is hopefully evolving into a long-term sponsorship between Subway and Elba's school band program.

As Russell elaborates, “Amy provided the first point of contact between Mr. Hammonds and Subway. I learned through our Facebook conversations of the band's upcoming trip to Chicago and some of the challenges it faces. Almost immediately Subway began providing healthy Subway® sandwiches and Dasani bottled water for numerous events such as band camp and rehearsals, football games, and Honor Band – we support the band at every given opportunity.”

“It's important that these kids know how valuable their contributions are to the schools and community of Elba,” he further adds.

Students who practice with musical instruments can improve their hand-eye coordination and just like playing sports, they develop motor skills when playing music. According to the American Psychological Association, children involved in music programs score 7.2 points higher on I.Q. Tests.

Like most school music programs, the Marching Tiger Band is 100 percent self-funded through charitable donations, fundraising activities, and the concession stand it operates during football games. The upcoming trip to Chicago is also self-funded.

“We are very grateful to Marty and Joe for this dedication to the Marching Tiger Band,” said Elba band director Shaun Hammonds. “Partnerships, such as this, help make our band program even more successful, and it also shows the students just how much their community believes in and supports them.”

Hammonds said the hefty donation generously given by Subway® to assist with the band's trip to Chicago will go a long way in helping make this once-in-a-lifetime trip something the band students will never forget. For some, it will be a trip they never would have been able to make without the support of their community's citizens and businesses, he said.

“The support of the Elba community for the band as it has raised money for this Chicago trip and for our school system as a whole is absolutely unbelievable,” said Elba High School principal Wynn Grimes. “The people, businesses and alumni of Elba love this school and its students, and we are definitely blessed because of that.”

“It's not often that a school the size of ours is able to send its students on a trip like this,” Hammonds said. “The support of our community definitely has helped make it possible, and we could never say thank you enough. The band's participation in the St. Patrick's Day Parade will not only be awesome for our band program, but it also will be a great way to showcase our city.”

The Marching Tigers left for Chicago on Wednesday, afternoon, March 14. The will enjoy two days of sightseeing and attending events before participating Saturday, March 17, in the St. Patrick's Day parade at 12 noon.

Linda Hodge, editor of The Elba Clipper, will be in Chicago on Saturday to bring 'live' coverage of the band on the Clipper's Facebook page. She also will provide additional photos/videos, etc. on The Elba Clipper's website [www.elba-clipper.com] while she is in Chicago following the band.

Commissioners voted to enter into the agreement with the Coffee County Board of Education for a third SRO for the school system.

“It is a good move that we are adding another SRO,” commissioner Jimmy Jones said. “We always try to be proactive rather than reactive.”

Also during the meeting, commissioners voted to approve the proposal from RFP for the removal of three buildings on property purchased by the county next to the Enterprise courthouse annex building; and they approved a resolution to let bids for the publishing the voter's list prior to the June 5th elections.

The next Coffee County Commission meeting is set for Monday, March 26, at 9 a.m. in the community room of the county complex in New Brockton.

Our little grandson Lawson spent the night with us one night last week and was so sleepy that he fell asleep before I could even finish one bedtime story. My little man was wide awake the second before he dozed off, but even at age seven, some days sleep is the only way to find a little rest.

For what it is worth....

 The Elba Tigers continued their season-long struggles last weekend with four losses at a tournament in Brantley, and while the losses did continue to mount, the Tigers fought throughout the game in an 8-3 loss to 5A Greenville, and appear to be coming together at just the right time with area games on the horizon. The Tigers are going to come out and play their best game of the season one day soon, and once they get that first win look for more to follow.

 The Elba Lady Tigers evened their record at 2-2 last week with a wild 16-13 win over Samson and showed a lot of pride and determination in rallying from an early 10-3 deficit to pull out the win. The Lady Tigers have scored a total of 41 runs in their two wins and only three total runs in their two losses, which shows that when they can get on base they can score runs in bunches. There are a lot of tough games left on the schedule, but these Lady Tigers appear ready for the task.

 A look around the area found plenty of action in both baseball and softball for all the teams. In baseball, New Brockton split a doubleheader with Geneva and showed once again it was a team to watch in the 2A ranks, while Brantley beat up on Straughn and is no doubt a 1A power, and both Kinston and Zion Chapel continued to play well and improve every time they hit the field. Over in softball, Brantley suffered its first loss of the season to 7A Auburn in a tournament in Wetumpka, but bounced back to beat the Tigers and also handled five other teams to reach the finals. New Brockton got a big win over Kinston and is steadily improving, while Zion Chapel and Kinston battled every time they hit the field and have already proven they are solid teams.

 I watched quite a bit of college basketball last week in the various conference tournaments, and while I agree the SEC as a whole is better than in years past, it still isn't as good as many other conferences across the nation and doesn't have a team that I would bet a nickel on to win the national title. It will be fun to watch the teams from the conference compete in the coming days. However, there are a few top quality teams that are far better than the rest, and the cream will rise to the top as the tourney plays out.  In closing... the fishing started to pick up last week at the Coffee County Lake and if the weather will cooperate I expect the bream to find their way to the beds pretty soon and the catfish to come back from the deep water. Yep, it is time to rig up a pole and find the water. The lake is open Wednesday - Sunday from sun'up until sundown and the bait shop is fully stocked.

Lady Tigers rally past Samson 16-13

The Elba Lady Tigers rallied from an early 7-0 deficit to outscore the Samson Lady Tigers 16-13, in their home opener last Thursday afternoon, in Elba.

Samson combined four walks and one hit batter with two hits to grab an 7-0 lead in the top of the first inning, and carried the big lead into the bottom of the second, when Elba plated three runs to cut the lead to 7-3.

A two-out, two-run single by McKenzie Hooks drove in Mone Martin and Zaida Williams to pump life into the Lady Tigers. However, Samson plated three runs of its own in the fourth to regain command as it opened up a 10-3 advantage.

The Lady Tigers were down big, but came out swinging in their half of the fourth and plated five runs to get back in the game and pull within 10-8. A leadoff double by McKenzie Hooks sparked the fourth inning fireworks, while Alyssa Kyles, Kayla Seay and A'Maysia Whitfield all added rbi singles as Elba rallied to cut into the Samson lead.

Samson upped its lead to 11-8 at its next at-bat, but the Lady Tigers kept on fighting and scored two runs in the fifth to pull within 11-10. A bases-loaded single by Kayla Seay knocked in Kira Starks and Praise Edwards, and heading into the final two frames the Lady Tigers had cut what once was an 8-run deficit down to a single run!

Elba was still down by one heading into the bottom of the sixth, but continued its rally and plated six runs in the inning to jump on top 16-10. Consecutive two-out walks by Kira Starks, Praise Edwards and Alyssa Kyles loaded the bases for the Lady Tigers, and for the second inning in a row Kayla Seay delivered a bases-loaded single to drive in two runs to give Elba its first lead of the game.

Mone Martin and A'Maysia Whitfield followed with singles to keep the rally alive, and both later scored on a Samson error as Elba bolted out to a 16-11 lead.

Samson scored twice in its final trip to the plate, but the Elba defense came up with big plays late as the Lady Tigers claimed the wild 16-13 win.

Kayla Seay had 3 hits, scored 2 runs and collected 4 rbi's to lead Elba at the plate, while McKenzie Hooks added 2 hits, scored 2 runs and had 2 rbi's; A'Maysia Whitfield added 2 hits, scored 1 run and had 3 rbi's; Mone Martin added 1 hit, scored 3 runs and had 2 rbi's; Alyssa Kyles added 1 hit, scored 2 runs and had 2 rbi's; Kira Starks drew 5 walks and scored 3 runs; Praise Edwards scored 2 runs; and, Zaida Williams scored 1 run. A'Maysia Whitfield scattered seven hits and six walks, with six strikeouts to get the win inside the circle.

In baseball action

JV Tigers stacking up the wins

The Elba JV Tigers have been busy in early-season baseball action and have rolled to a number of big wins both at home and on the road.

Following are highlights of early-season games:

Ariton 9 Elba 2

The Elba Tigers fell behind early and never caught up in a 9-2 loss to the Ariton Purple Cats. Ariton combined six hits with five walks in the opening inning to grab an 8-0 lead, and while the Tigers did hold their own the remainder of the game, the big lead was simply too much to overcome. Elba got on the scoreboard in the top of the third when Collin Sauls singled, stole second and third, and scored on an rbi single by Carson Wise, and added a second run in the fifth when Paxton Wise singled, circled the bases on stolen bases and scored on a fielder's choice.

Paxton Wise and Collin Sauls both had one hit and scored one run to lead Elba, while Carson Wise, Whit Shehee, Jaden Juarez and Adin Rayborn all added one hit.

Kinston 4 Elba 3

The Elba Tigers saw a 3-0 lead vanish in the closing innings in a 4-3 loss to the Kinston Bulldogs. The Tigers grabbed an early 2-0 lead in the top of the first inning when Collin Sauls and Carson Wise both drew walks, and then raced home on a two-run double by Collin Harrison, and upped their lead to 3-0 in the third when John Martin Wilson walked and later came around to score on an rbi single by Collin Sauls. Kinston bunched three hits in the fourth inning to pull even; however, and then finished off the rally in the fifth to grab the 4-3 win.

Collin Harrison had one hit and two rbi's to lead Elba, while Collin Sauls added one hit, scored one run and added one rbi; John Martin Wilson added one hit and scored one run; and, Carson Wise scored one run.

Elba 17 Pike County 3

The Elba Tigers erupted for eight runs in the opening inning and never looked back as they rolled to a big 17-3 win over the Pike County Bulldogs. The Tigers didn't need a hit to put eight runs on the scoreboard in the first as they took advantage of six walks and three hit batters, while a bases loaded single by Peyton McCart ignited the second inning fireworks, and in the third inning the Tigers again walked around the bases as they completed the big win.

Peyton McCart had the only Elba hit and knocked in three runs, while Carson Wise and Paxton Wise both scored three runs, John Martin Wilson, Collin Sauls, Collin Harrison and Adin Rayborn all scored two runs; and, Caden Grogg and Whit Shehee both scored one run.

Elba 13 Red Level 3

The Elba Tigers scored in every inning to coast to an impressive 13-3 win over the Red Level Tigers.
